How are you ? I am fine here and studying well. How are uncle and aunt ?

Last Sunday I went to watch a swimming competition to a nearby lake. A boy named Stevenson swam faster than the other competitors. He reached the other side of the bank, collected the baton and started his return trip. People on shore were cheering him. Suddenly a boy who was cheering the swimmers fell into the lake and started crying 'help', 'help'. Stevenson saw that boy and started swimming towards him. He saved the boy from drowning. He lost the race in the process. People watching the event were disappointed because he could not win the race. But, they were happy because he saved the life of a boy. I felt thankful to Steve for saving the life of the boy.

Yours lovingly,
