VII. Read the following passage.

All books are divisible into two classes – books of the hour and books for all time. Mark this distinction. It is not one of quality only. It is not merely the bad book that does not last and the good one that does. There are good books for the hour and good ones for all time; bad books for the hour and bad ones for all time. I must define the two kinds before I go further.

The good book of the hour then – I do not speak of the bad ones – is simply the useful or pleasant talk of some persons whom you cannot otherwise converse with, printed for you – very often telling you what you need to know, very pleasant, often as a sensible friend’s pleasant talk would be; those bright accounts of travels; good humoured and witty discussions; lively or pathetic story telling in the form of novel, firm fact telling by the real agents concerned in the events of past history.

Now answer the following questions.

1) What does a good book of the hour tell you ?

Ans. _____

Note : Cut along with the marking to avoid uneven cutting or torn.

2) What are the classes into which all books are divided ?

Ans. _____

3) Is the distinction made basing on the quality alone ?

Ans. _____

4) What is a good book of the hour ?

Ans. _____
